Name of Activity	Workshop on Full Stack Training with Aptitude and IQ test
Title	Full Stack Training with Aptitude and IQ test
Date	12 April , 2023
Venue	St. Wilfred's PG College Jaipur
Organized by	Sunstone & St. Wilfred's PG College
Faculty Coordinator	Dr. Ruchi Dave
Resource Person	Mr. Devesh Kumar
Event Summary	The Full Stack Training program with Aptitude and IQ tests is an excellent opportunity for students who are interested in developing their skills as full-stack developers. The program not only focuses on technical training but also includes assessments of students' aptitude and IQ levels. The aptitude test administered during the program evaluates students' problem-solving abilities, logical thinking skills, and data analysis capabilities. It covers various areas such as quantitative reasoning, verbal reasoning, and abstract reasoning. The results of the aptitude test provide valuable insights into students' cognitive abilities and their potential for success in technical roles. The IQ test measures students' overall intelligence and cognitive capabilities.

Activity Report

Name of Activity	Workshop on Faculty Exchange Program
Title	On Exchange of Faculty, Students and Staff for Academia, Education, Research and Administrative Purposes
Date	06 April 2022
Venue	St. Wilfred's PG College
Organized	Sanskriti College
Faculty Coordinator	Dr. Kapila Parihar
Event Summary	A teacher exchange program between St. Wilfred's College for Girls and St. Wilfred's PG College would involve educators from both institutions temporarily swapping roles and responsibilities. This type of program can offer several benefits, including the sharing of teaching methodologies, cultural exchange, and professional development. Here's a general outline of how such a program might work. Initial Planning and Agreement: The leadership teams of both St. Wilfred's College for Girls and St. Wilfred's PG College would need to discuss and agree upon the terms and details of the teacher exchange program. This would include the duration of the exchange, the number of teachers involved, the subjects or courses they teach, and the logistics of the exchange. Selection of Participants: Teachers interested in participating in the exchange program would apply, and a selection process would be carried out to identify suitable candidates. Teachers with relevant experience, open-mindedness, and a willingness to adapt to new environments would be ideal candidates. Preparation and Orientation: Before the exchange begins, selected teachers would receive orientation sessions to familiarize them with the teaching methods, curriculum, and cultural aspects of the host institution. This preparation would help them adjust more smoothly to the new teaching environment. Exchange Period: During the exchange period, teachers from St. Wilfred's College for Girls would teach at St. Wilfred's PG College, and vice versa. They would take over the classes, engage with students, and deliver lessons based on their expertise. This would provide students with exposure to different teaching styles and approaches. Collaboration and Knowledge Sharing: Throughout the exchange, teachers would have the opportunity to collaborate with their counterparts at the host institution. They could share teaching strategies, insights, and best practices, enriching both institutions with new ideas and perspectives. Cultural Exchange: One of the key benefits of a teacher exchange program is the opportunity for cultural exchange. Teachers would not only share their teaching methods but also experience the daily life, customs, and traditions of the host institution's location. This can foster greater understanding and appreciation among the faculty and students.

Professional Development: The experience gained from teaching in a different environment can contribute significantly to professional development. Teachers would learn how to adapt to diverse student populations, refine their teaching skills, and broaden their horizons.

Evaluation and Feedback: At the end of the exchange period, teachers would provide feedback on their experiences, highlighting what worked well and suggesting improvements for future exchanges. This feedback would be valuable in refining the program for future participants.

Celebration and Recognition: The successful completion of the exchange program could be celebrated by both institutions. This could involve presentations, workshops, or seminars where participating teachers share their insights and experiences with their colleagues.

Long-Term Collaboration: The connections established through the exchange program could lead to long-term collaborations between the two institutions, such as joint research projects, faculty development initiatives, and ongoing knowledge sharing.

Conclusion:

In the course of conducting a comprehensive academic audit of the Commerce Department, the Internal Quality Assurance Cell (IQAC) has diligently assessed various facets of the department's operations and academic activities. This audit aimed to critically analyze the department's adherence to quality benchmarks, its efficacy in delivering education, and its commitment to continuous improvement.

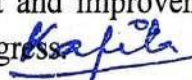

The audit process has revealed several commendable aspects that merit acknowledgment. The Commerce Department has demonstrated a robust commitment to academic excellence, student-centeredness, and the pursuit of knowledge. The faculty members' dedication to delivering quality education, evidenced by their expertise, research contributions, and student engagement, has significantly contributed to the department's positive standing.

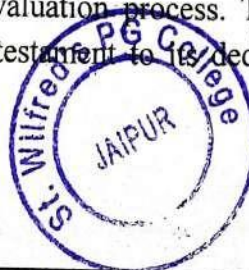

Furthermore, the Commerce Department has displayed an encouraging implementation of innovative teaching methodologies and the integration of technology into the learning process. This progressive approach is fostering a dynamic learning environment that equips students with skills and knowledge relevant to the evolving demands of the business landscape.

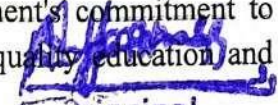

It is gratifying to observe the department's consistent efforts to bridge the gap between academia and industry. Collaborations, seminars, workshops, and industry-academia interactions have not only enriched the learning experience but also enhanced students' employability and readiness for real-world challenges.

While recognizing these accomplishments, the audit has also identified areas where refinement and enhancement are possible. These include strengthening interdisciplinary linkages, providing more targeted support to struggling students, and exploring opportunities for greater community engagement.

The IQAC would like to express its appreciation to the Commerce Department for its willingness to undergo this rigorous evaluation process. The department's commitment to self-assessment and improvement is a testament to its dedication to quality education and continuous progress.

As the IQAC concludes its academic audit, it does so with the utmost confidence in the Commerce Department's potential to build upon its strengths and address its areas for improvement. The recommendations provided in this report are intended to guide the department's future endeavors, fostering an environment of learning, innovation, and excellence that aligns with the institution's overarching mission.

The IQAC looks forward to witnessing the sustained growth of the Commerce Department and its enduring contribution to the academic and professional development of its students.

Sincerely,

Dr. Kapila Parihar
